

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Nordic Research Network on Infection Control

RUNE ANDERSSON

rune.andersson@gu.se

<https://www.gu.se/en/biomedicine/nordic-research-network-on-infection-control>

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Website

<https://www.gu.se/en/biomedicine/nordic-research-network-on-infection-control>

e/nordic-research-network-on-infection-control

Institute of Biomedicine / Nordic research network on infection control

Nordic research network on infection control

Göteborg University has by support from the Nordic Council of Ministers established a Nordic research network on infection control with yearly seminars in Gothenburg. The next seminar will be September 27-29, 2022. All researchers in infection control are welcome to present their project. The actual website will be further developed during March and April.

To make it easier to identify potential partners in the other countries we invite y

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Form for researchers

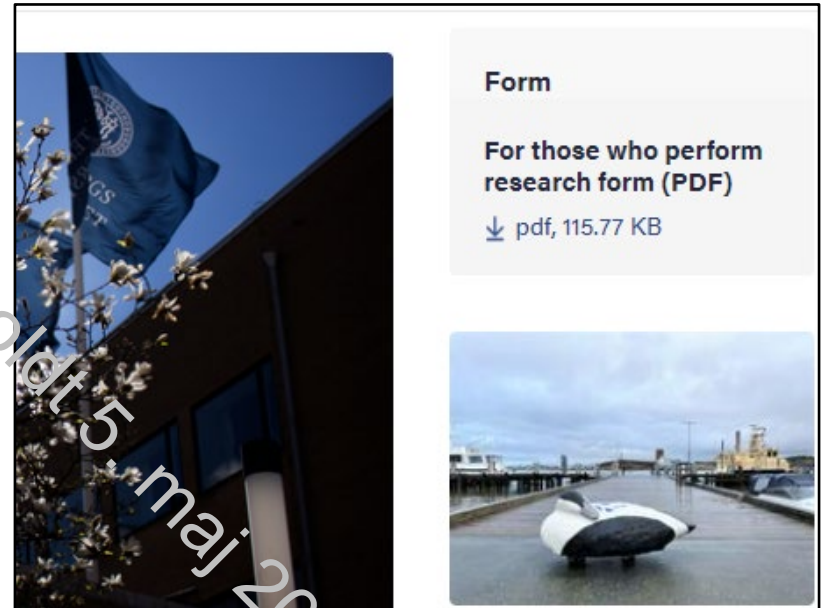

Researchers are listed with the title of project, group members, short description and how to contact them.

Airborne transmission

Carl-Johan Fraenkel, Skåne
University Hospital, Lund, Sweden

Clostridioides difficile: preventive strategies

Jon Edman Wallér, University of Gothenburg, Gothenburg, Sweden

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Conferences with link

- The 13th Nordic Public Health Conference, June 28–30, 2022 | Reykjavik
- Nordisk hygienkonferens, August 31–September 2, 2022 | Helsingör
- Nordic seminar and webinar on Infection Control , September 27-29, 2022 | Gothenburg.

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Research funds with link

University of Gothenburg
Grant and Innovation Office

Swedish Research Council
Research funds for studies on antibiotic resistance

The PAR-Foundation

If you know of additional funds possible to apply to for projects in infection control, please send an E-mail to Rune Andersson.

Research Funds

University of Gothenburg
Grant and Innovation Office

Swedish Research Council
Research funds for studies on

The PAR-Foundation

If you know of additional funds please send an E-mail to Rune

Nordic seminar and webinar on Infection Control, Gothenburg, September 27-29, 2022

- Free to attend
- September 27 and 29 also sent as webinar
- For attending the seminar in Gothenburg, please register before June 15
- Dockyard Hotel at Campus Nya Varvet has reserved 25 rooms to June 15 for stay between September 27-29 for 1165 SEK per night including breakfast, booking with ref. “Nordic infection control network”

<https://www.gu.se/en/biomedicine/nordic-seminar-and-webinar-on-infection-control-göteborg-september-27-29-2022>

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Seminar September 27, before noon at Hall Arvid Carlsson, Academicum. Medicinaregatan 3, Gothenburg on site (150 seats) and as a webinar

Hospital Infection Control in covid- 19- Anders Johansson, Umeå University

Update on Covid-19 vaccines- Sören Andersson, The Public Health Agency of Sweden

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Seminar September 27, afternoon

Nordic experiences on how well the toolbox for infection control has worked in the actual covid-19 pandemic, with focus on the need of research.

Panelists

Tyra Grove Krause – Statens Serum Institute, Denmark

Anders Tegnell- The Public Health Agency of Sweden

Frode Forland- Norwegian Institute of Public Health

Mika Salminen- Finnish Institute of Health and Welfare

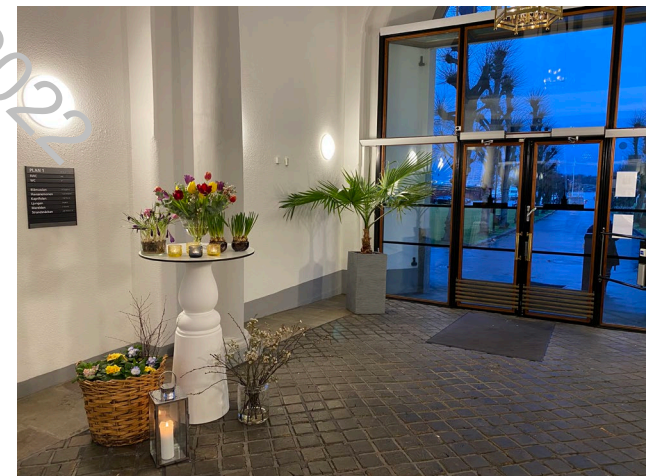

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Seminar September 28

at Styrhytten, Campus Nya Varvet,
Gothenburg. Seminar for 35-40 persons.

Presentations on research in infection control on 15-30 minutes for each project with 15-30 minutes of discussion.

Report projects you want to present with title as early as possible and at latest June 15 to
rune.andersson@gu.se

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

Seminar September 29

at Havsörnen, Campus Nya Varvet, Gothenburg, on site (80 seats) and as webinar

Anthropological perspectives on risk:
transmission of pathogens and zoonoses –Senior lecturer Johan Wedel, School of Global Studies, Gothenburg University.

What a researcher in social science can contribute with in infection control- Associate Professor Lena Andersson, Department of Social Work, Gothenburg Universit

GÖTEBORGS
UNIVERSITET

ORGANISATIONSNAMN (ÄNDRA SIDHUVUD
VIA FLIKEN INFOGA-SIDHUVUD/SIDFOT)

Seminar September 29 afternoon

What a researcher in health economics can contribute with in infection control! Senior lecturer Annika Lindskog, Department of Economics, Gothenburg University

What can analysis of virus in waste water contribute with in infection control? Prof. Helene Norder, Department of Clinical Microbiology, Gothenburg University

